

Penns Valley Rails To Trails Feasibility Study
Questions and Answers – Addendum
6/15/12

As continued follow-up to the Questions and Answers document, Centre County GIS staff was asked to take a cursory look at the corridor to determine an approximate number of parcels touching the current conceptual alignment.

Assuming no buffer, the corridor appears to touch approximately 123 parcels. However, there is a section in Harris Township that is questionable as it currently returns no parcels within the right of way. With consideration to that fact, again assuming no buffer, the corridor could touch approximately 150 parcels.

Understanding that the alignment may shift based on a number of factors, we also applied a conservative buffer of 50 feet to the conceptual corridor. In that instance, the conceptual alignment touches 323 total parcels.

This in no way guarantees the number of affected parcels that may be considered as part of this study, a consultant's due diligence will be required to calculate that final number. However, this does provide some general estimates as to the potential number of parcels involved.
